

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A piece of melamine dinnerware includes an outer body made of melamine resin molding compound and an inner body made of stainless steel. The outer body and the inner body both have a bottom and a circumferential wall to correspond to each other and kept tightly together by an upper flange of the inner body tightly surrounding the upper annular edge of the outer body.